

ABSTRACT

It is possible to prevent fraudulent recording of data because a check is made as to whether or not the information recording medium 9 was purchased correctly at the cash register 5, and because the information recording media 9 in which has been recorded the write disable information indicating that the writing of data in it has been prohibited are stacked on a shop shelf 4, and a section is provided in the cash register 5 for recording in the information recording medium 9 the write disable release information indicating that the disabling of the writing of data has been released, and because in the data recording terminal 3 is provided, at least, a data recording section that prohibits the writing of data in the information recording medium 9 in which the write disable information has been written and also permits the writing of data in the information recording medium 9 in which the write disable release information has been written.